
Event Calendar not up-to-date

Posted by Rex_Hoss - 2008/01/11 01:52

I'm a little disheartened that I'm in the Etch a Sketch show which opens this Saturday at Tres Stage and to date, haven't seen ANYTHING mentioned on the site, or calendar about this show!!! What's up with that? All the other shows seem to be promoted, but not ours! What does it take to be mentioned in the calendar? -- concerned actor, Rex

Post edited by: Rex_Hoss, at: 2008/01/11 02:04

Post edited by: Rex_Hoss, at: 2008/01/11 02:08

Re:Event Calendar not up-to-date

Posted by Mackenzie - 2008/01/11 03:23

I know, it's hard for Morgan and I to know what is going on in all the theaters to post ..too bad we don't have the all knowing and seeing power like the Q...ok sorry for the nerd moment.

There are four ways to let us know about shows.

- 1) add the event yourself to the calendar by going into the events calendar page and clicking "add event" at the top. An email will be sent to either Morgan or I and we can approve the event.
 - 2) Under the "user menu" on the left hand side, click submit show info. This one is even better because if you put in a show synopsis, pictures and or cast list, we can actually promote it on the front page.
 - 3) Post information on the post board and if Morgan and I see it, we can add all the information you give us to the web page. The more info and media, the more exposure we can give you!
 - 4) Yell at your director or cast mates to submit the info because they are just as responsible for promoting the show.
-